Three Western Desperadoes Slain.

The lawlessness prevalent in Colfax County, New Mexico, the past few months culminated dangerously on the 16th inst. to the aggressive party. Dick Rogers has been a desperado and outlaw since last fall, when he killed a man in Raton and took to the plains and joined cowboy friends. In December last Sheriff Hixenbaugh was fatally wounded in an encounter with Rogers, and was unsuccessful in effecting his capture. Last month Jim Mastersons, Marshal of Raton, went to Chihuahua, N. M., to take Rogers, but was disarmed and made to dance, and was finally tied in a chair at a dance hall and severely beaten over the head with revolvers by Rogers' friends. A fraudulent militia company was organized by Masterson's friends, and several efforts made to catch Rogers without avail. Last week the company was disbanded by order of Governor Sheldon, and on their return to Raton were captured by Rogers, who had surrendered at Blossburg meantime and been admitted to bail in $1,000, just the amount of the Governor's standing reward for his capture. Rogers had enlisted the sympathy of several citizens, and at a mass-meeting it was resolved that the bogus militia company must go. Its leaders were marched out of town over the State line into Colorado, Rogers leading the avengers. Then Rogers returned to Raton and began gathering his cowboy forces for any emergency. Sunday one of Rogers' followers, named Bill Todd, was arrested in Springer by Deputy Sheriff Jesse Lee. The prisoner Todd immediately telegraphed Rogers that he was under arrest. Rogers went to Springer with a number of men, who first attacked a constable, beating him severely over the head, and ordered him to leave the county at once. Then they went to the county jail, where officers Lee and Kimberlin had taken refuge. A hard fight with guns ensued, in which Rogers, Ed King and "Red River Tom" were instantly killed by the officers on the inside of the jail. The remnant of Rogers' party left the town, and are awaiting re-enforcements to come again and attack the victorious officers at the jail. When they arrive it is thought another severe fight will be inevitable and that many will be killed. Yesterday afternoon Dick Rogers and three of his pals, one of whom was the notorious Bob Lee, a shooter from Raton, were at Maxwell Station, eleven miles north of Springer. They were all armed and presented rather an ugly array. A passenger train pulled by them. Rogers stood a little apart from the rest of the gang, and as the platform of the cars moved past him he dropped his Winchester into position, as if looking for somebody to shoot at or intimidate the passengers and make it appear to them that he was the bad man. His past career would indicate him to be. After this performance at Maxwell the quartet was re-enforced and rode their cow ponies to Springer and urged the fight. The citizens of Springer are in sympathy with the officers in this trouble, and a number of brave men have volunteered to stand by them. The excitement is intense, and much uneasiness is felt for the approach of night, for no one can foretell what it may bring forth. The people of Springer appealed to the District Commander for troops, and soldiers at Fort Union were ordered to move quickly to the scene of action in order to prevent further trouble.

Hon. E. M. Sanford.

We cheerfully extract the following complimentary notice from the Mohave County Miner: "From many sources public and private, we gather the pleasing intelligence that our friend, E. M. Sanford, of Prescott, is steadily and rapidly rising toward the top of the legal profession in this territory. And why should he not? He has brains, pluck, energy and is full of working power and disposition. This memorandum springs from the fact that we have just gone over his tracks in a case, the decision of which we knew would seriously effect the interests of the printers. We refer to the case of Smith & Co. vs. the County of Mohave; and we could not but admire the patient, laborious and exhaustive research he has made respecting the law points involved and which labor resulted in a victory for his clients. We commend him to the people of the territory as one of its best-read attorneys, and as an honorable and courteous gentleman.

Shipping Stock.

The Courier says Mr. J. W. Sullivan, the enterprising stockraiser, has come to Prescott from his ranches, and tells us that in two weeks he will start for Kansas city several car loads of horses, mules and cattle. He is the first citizen of Northern Arizona who tried the experiment of shipping cattle to Kansas city. His first shipment was made under difficulties and was not a financial success; but he has learned wisdom from experience and will from now on make the business a paying one. Mules raised by him are not large, but are wanted for street car lines in Kansas city and for work in fields farther south. His cattle are large; horses not large but tough. This movement, which was inaugurated by him will grow to be of great benefit to this portion of Arizona, stockmen of which are now compelled to ship their surplus animals out of Arizona.

Methods that Would Suit.

The position of the Mormon press on the way that men guilty of certain crimes should be tried, and when convicted punished, is not original. It was anticipated by the Irishman who was sentenced to be hanged. He admitted the crime and did not object to the punishment, but insisted that as he had a throat difficulty, the rope should be placed under his arms. The Mormon press can easily show that everything done at present is illegal, even up to the rulings of the Supreme Court of the United States, but still insists that all that is asked for is that the trials shall be fair. It is clear enough that any trial which will convict will be held as unfair and illegal by that press, which has not the manhood or integrity to advise the people to avoid trials or apprehensions of trials, by coming within the laws.

An Indignation Meeting.

A large mass-meeting was held in Tucson, on the night of the 14th, to express their indignation against the work of the Territorial Legislature, which adjourned on the 13th after a sixty days session. Strong resolutions were adopted denouncing venality, extravagance and jobbery, by which over $1,000,000 of subsidies were granted to various schemes—$100,000 to building an Insane Asylum, over $700,000 to a railroad and $300,000 to other questionable projects. There were only thirty-six members all told, yet an appropriation bill passed to pay the clerks over $16,000, also an appropriation to pay the printing for the session of $20,800, to be paid by the Territory. The subsidy bills were lavishly drawn, and are said to show unmistakable jobbery. County courts were created against the strongest protests of the people, which increases the taxes of many counties over $15,000 a year. The salaries of many officials were doubled. Much feeling is expressed against the Governor for approving these bills. The meeting appointed a committee to devise the means to have Congress annul the obnoxious laws, and to institute proceedings in court to stop the payment of corrupt appropriation bills. Never before in the history of Arizona has there been so much venal legislation. Both parties, with but few individual exceptions, participated in the meeting.

Rough on the Saints.

The San Francisco Chronicle's Salt Lake special says: John Nicholson, associate editor of the Deseret News, was arrested this morning charged with polygamy and unlawful cohabitation. Chas. Penrose, the senior editor of the aforesaid organ of the Mormon church, is, and has been, hiding from the officers of the law for the past month. John Taylor, the president of the church, is also missing and the April conference is on that account, it is supposed, ordered to be held at Logan, a stronghold of the Mormons.

How is This?

The legislature of Montana, which but recently closed its labors, having accomplished much good, passed an appropriation bill covering all expenses, which was less than twenty-five hundred dollars. This paid for all printing, clerk hire, etc. Other northern territories have run the machinery of their legislative sessions for less than one thousand dollars. In Arizona it cost tax-payers over fifty thousand dollars! How does this sound?—[Prescott Miner.

A Big Day for Arizona.

An Arizona lawyer has just endeared himself to his fellow citizens by shooting an editor. The editor's partner immediately shot the lawyer, doubtless in order to thoroughly work up the sensation for an "extra" edition, but was himself waylaid and extinguished that night by some unknown parties. The total bag for the day was two editors and one lawyer. Altogether, it was a great day for Arizona.—[San Francisco Post.

A Wolf Story.

Two Sawyers from Farmington, Minn., and a teamster from Little Rock, Ark., while taking the body of a dead man from Joseph Moses' camp, on Jump river, Wis., to Chippewa Falls, were attacked about midnight by wolves. The driver plied his whip on his team, while the two sawyers, with their Winchester, killed twenty-seven wolves and arrived at the Falls all right, but pretty well scared.

Boomers Clearing Out.

President Cleveland has issued a proclamation warning the Oklahoma boomers to keep off the Indian Territory, telling them that, if necessary, the military power of the United States will be used to force them to obey the law. This will be a disappointment to the "boomers," who expected great things in their favor from the new administration.
